

Cinderella (Enchanted Edition)

Set in medieval times, rehearsals have begun for a one-of-a-kind version of Cinderella. The director states that "there will be audience interaction throughout the show with the characters being quirky, mad cap, and even a tad bizarre. It will entertain everyone from the young children to the older adults who are still young at heart." He also related that they had a difficult time getting through the auditions because the group was hysterical while reading the lines for the first time.

A special Cinderella Celebration is planned for Sunday, Dec. 13 at noon. (See the back of this Ad-Lib for details.)

The cast of zany characters includes: Lauren King, Bonnie Raubenstine, April Howard, Lori Woods, Peyton Watson, Teresa Leonard, Greg Lauchman, Ann Watson, Joann Luckenbaugh, Sasha Watson, Ginni Hasener, Katelyn Helwig, Lenore O'Rourke, and Loganne Storm.

Tickets for the musical are $12. Discounts are available for students and seniors. Please visit our web site for details regarding seating and ticket purchases.

Much needed improvements have taken place at The Hanover Little Theatre over the past year. We have upgraded our electrical service, seal coated our parking lot, and purchased the beginning phase of our new lighting system. The board members have recently cleaned out and re-organized the storage shed to make it safer and more accessible for directors and technical staff.

Thank you to our generous patrons and for the additional monetary gifts that are making these efforts possible. If you would like to learn more about additional ways to support the theatre, please contact us at (717) 637-5297 or email us at info@HanoverLittleTheatre.com.

Gift Certificates or Gift Packages

The Hanover Community Players has gift certificates available for purchase in any denomination.

Before each performance at our theatre, and most others, there are announcements about turning off cell phones and not photographing the performance. However, we don't often talk about some of the other "etiquette" rules that will make you a good patron of the arts.

While I know people turn off their cells, texting or otherwise lighting up your seat and the one next to you with your cell phone is distracting.

Talking during a performance is certainly not forbidden. In fact, the actors know that an audience is enjoying a show when they can hear people commenting on the action. Long discussions about family vacations or dinner plans for the next weekend are disturbing to your seat mates as well as the cast on stage.

Finally, while I know everyone likes to get a good parking space, we do not open the theatre for you to find your seat or buy tickets until 7:30 p.m. This allows the actors the time that they need to prepare for the evening's performance.

Looking forward to seeing you soon.

Auditions for the Jerry Herman Tony-award nominee musical Mack & Mabel will be held on Dec. 13 & 15 from 7:30–9 p.m. at the Hanover Little Theatre. This production will be presented on our stage on March 18–21 and 25–27, 2010. Director Mark Franceschini is looking for several men and women ages 16-66 to fill the roles for this show. Those auditioning must bring a prepared song with music for the pianist in the correct key, wear appropriate footwear, and be prepared to dance.

Mack & Mabel is from the talented pen of Jerry Herman, who also created the musical hits, Mame and Hello Dolly. In this musical, Herman has gone back to the era of the silent movies and the great love between Hollywood director Mack Sennett and Mabel Normand, who became one of his biggest stars after being discovered waitressing in Brooklyn.

A series of flashbacks shows Mack and Mabel during the glory days of Keystone Studios, when he casts her in dozens of his early films, including Bathing Beauties and the Keystone Cops.
