

Hop into your golf cart and drive over to the Hanover Little Theatre (HLT) to see the spring production of The Fox on the Fairway.

Caution! Be prepared for some sharp plot turns. Also, wear loose clothing because “jabbering Justin,” “luscious Louise,” “boisterous Bingham,” “promiscuous Pam,” “dangerous Dickie,” and “mighty Muriel” will have you “bursting at the seams” as they romp, revel, and run around the stage.

The eclectic ensemble of actors are as diverse in appearance and demeanor as the characters whom they portray. Some familiar faces include Anna Heckert, Brian Shea, and Skip Tananis. Returning to the the HLT stage after sabatticals, are Nicole Merkel and Faye Snyder. Rounding out the cast is new comer, Matthew Purpora.

Pay your greens’ fees early because this show is bound to be a crowd pleaser.

Synopsis: Ken Ludwig’s, The Fox on the Fairway, is a hilarious romp which begins at the Quail Ridge Country Club in preparation for the Annual Inter-Club Golf Tournament. The contest plays out amidst three love affairs and a substantial wager between two teams. The play is both a salute to the English farces of the 1930’s and 1940’s and a madcap adventure about love, life, and the pursuit of golf.

Performance Dates: April 11-13 and 18-20 at 8:00 pm;

The Hanover Little Theatre is saddened to report the passing of Jean Ecker, a more than 60-year theatre supporter and director emeritus. She was the wife of Rudy Ecker, the theatre's long-time business manager, to whom she was married for 59 years. Jean served the theatre as a board member and director of numerous productions, along with a commitment to the upkeep of the theatre. She was never afraid to get her hands dirty to make sure that the Hanover Little Theatre always looked its best. Jean will be missed.

Are There Benefits to Having a Hanover Little Theatre Membership?

Our last few shows have drawn outstanding crowds. This has meant some patrons may have had some difficulty getting the seats they wanted for their favorite night at HLT.

You can avoid this in the future by buying a membership. An HLT membership provides patrons with a number of benefits.

The various levels of membership come with either four or eight tickets, which can be redeemed for any show during the season. You can come to each show, bring a group to one favorite show or something in between.

Members get the chance to pick their seats for shows before tickets go on sale to the general public. Buy using the Vendini system through our website at www.hanoverlittletheatre.com, you can pick your specific seats.

Memberships also come with a vote at the theatre's annual meeting in the summer as well as the knowledge that you help keep Hanover's only all-volunteer community theatre up and running.

You can still purchase a membership now for the final two shows of the 2012–13 season. Plans start at $60. Click the “Become a Member” button at the website  to learn more.

Prior to each season, we also sell Season Tickets. This package does not have all the benefits of the membership, but does provide patrons with the same seat to each show for the entire season. This option saves patrons not only $10 over individual ticket purchases, but also the worry of not getting your favorite seat. Season tickets will again go on sale before the 2013–14 season.
